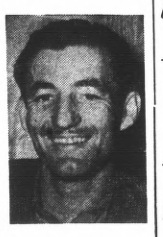
State to Close For Asilomar Meet

Fashion Show, Dance Scheduled in Gym Tuesday Night

HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By BILL DENNIS

A recent news story deals with a demand by an AFL Political Education group to keep the following members of Congress from being seated: Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. J.), Senators Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.), and Alvin O'Konski (R., Wis.)



The AFL insists that these people be refused seats on the grounds that they should first be investigated by the FBI.

It seems only natural that a group of this nature who opposed the re-election of these men should exact this kind of pressure.

LOOKS HUMOROUS

We feel, however, that such charges and demands are pretty much a two-way street. We opposed the methods used by such committees as the Thomas committee as being unfair to the individuals involved.

We were struck by the humor of Mr. Thomas standing upon his constitutional rights in maintaining silence on the charges of nepotism placed against him. We felt that a certain grim justice had finally caught up with J. Parnell, the kind of retribution which forced him to use the same defense he so vehemently denied his victims during the Hollywood trials.

SORDID OPINIONS

It is a temptation to prejudge Thomas', Ferguson's and O'Konski's guilt at this stage of events. Many of us who were opposed to the high-handed methods employed by these committees secretly hope that the allegations against these men are proved in a court of law.

We feel, however, that to deny these men seats in the Congress, pending investigation, or for any reason still unproved, would be a negation of the arguments we have used against them.

These men were duly elected in accordance with the democratic processes. The charges against them have not been judged in a court of law. No verdict has as yet been handed down against them. Under these circumstances it seems fairly obvious that to demand their unseating is a denial of that portion of our legal code which insists that " a person is innocent until proved guilty."

Tour Chronicle Plant On Orientation Trip

Ben Lieberman, Chronicle staff member and newly appointed instructor in journalism, took his introductory journalism class to the Chronicle building recently for a general orientation tour of newspaper work in action. Purpose of the excursion was to familiarize students new to the subject with the inside functioning of a major publication.

Drumming Up Business . . .

YEARBOOK SOUND-OFF!—Vigorously beating the drum for the Franciscan sales campaign are Betty Thatcher (left) and Madge Lude, music majors. The girls also are drummin 'attendance for the Franciscan rally, which will take place at the Midtown Theater (Haight near Fillmore) Tuesday at 1 p.m.

'Frosh Varieties' Set For Tuesday To Aid Franciscan

The Freshman class is presenting the "Frosh Varieties of 1948" next Tuesday to bolster lagging Franciscan sales. All freshman talent will be featured at the rally to be held in the Midtown Theatre at 1 p.m., according to Ira Berman, class president.

Promotion and encouragement of the Golden Anniversary edition of the Franciscan is the key purpose of the rally. To date sales haven't reached expectations, and unless 500 copies are sold by December 2 there will be no Franciscan, according to Evelyn Peterson, assistant editor.

"Yearbooks are selling at the same price as last year, even though production costs have gone up 15 per cent," she added. They may be purchased in Hut 4-B, in front of the Cafeteria, or from individual salesmen. Price is $3 with student body cards and $4 without cards.

FIRST DRAFT READY

The first draft of the 1949 Franciscan will be submitted to the printers tomorrow, according to Jean Heldoorn, editor.

"We know that an informed student body will want a Franciscan and will support the drive now when sales are so vitally needed," Miss Heldoorn stated yesterday.

FRANCISCAN RALLY

Acts for Tuesday's Franciscan rally include music by the six-piece "52 Ensemble", headed by Dick Lieber and Milt Biarstein. Songs by Ray Darling and Gloria Reyes, variety acts by Sue Huff, Flora-Dora girls, Ann Bohigan and Berman also will be featured.

Barbara Roberts, business manager for the Franciscan, will discuss the Franciscan and its "now or never" policy. The talent show will be emceeed by Berman.

Inklings to Be Out On December 6!

Advance reports from the staff of Inklings, college literary magazine, indicate that the issue is well on its way to publication, with December 6 tentatively set as newsstand day.

Aided by a last minute rush of copy and art work, the magazine has been increased from 16 to 28 pages. Articles ranging in theme from American industry to the plight of the creative artist are being included, as well as satire and ten short stories.

Sale price of the revamped Inklings is unchanged, but the fourman staff expressed doubt that the magazine would be able to pay production costs at last semester's 15c price. The greater size and lower budget allotted to Inklings may require a raise in sale price by the time of publication.

NSA DELEGATES

Pick Names For Confab

First organized meeting of the National Students Association Committee on campus was held last Monday in Hut 4 at 4 p.m., with George Allen, member-at-large and NSA chairman, presiding.

Delegates for the regional NSA convention at University of California November 13-14 were appointed to represent State. They are: Mardi Schwarz, Al Martinez, Tom Murphy and George Allen. Alternates are: Art Padilla, Dot Brandlein and Bob Crawford.

BACKGROUND TRACED

Allen traced the background of NSA and elaborated on its purposes. He also stressed the fact that NSA was "the" committee as far as the State Department was concerned. It is the first college group to have a seat in UNESCO.

Allen presented a check for $25 to the committee, stating it was the excess amount collected for transportation to the national convention.

PLANS DISCUSSED

Erskine Childres, regional chairman of NSA; Vin O'Leary, former State student body president and member of the regional executive board; Don Canty, Santa Clara representative; Don Dickey, head of NSA for University of California, and Allen met at Stanford to discuss the forthcoming conference at the University of California, Allen stated at the committee meeting.

Allen emphasized that NSA must work with the student government on the campus and not supplant it. He explained, "Stanford had to start all over because of fouled-up relations with their student government. We can't let that happen to us."

Bib 'n' Tucker Girls To Model Clothes; Affair Begins at 9

"Style Stepper," Bib 'n' Tucker's Fashion Show-Dance, will prelude the Asilomar holidays Tuesday at 9 p.m. in the gym.

MEN MODEL, TOO

Men's outfits will be worn by: Hank Marscheck, Phil Ryan, Doug Lindauer, Rick Ahrling.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of Maurice Wolohan and his orchestra.

Decorations will be in blue and white, Bib 'n' Tucker colors.

Library Doors Open Full Time Next Week

Main library and reserve book room will be open next week while the faculty adjourns to Asilomar, Ruth Fleming, head librarian, announced this week. Hours for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Can See 'Hamlet' At Reduced Price?

If a 300 student guarantee can be obtained, Staters can see the Shakespearean tragedy, Hamlet, at the Stage Door Theatre next Friday morning at a reduced rate of 90 cents, according to Mr. Ed Alexander, representative of the theater.

Regular prices on current showings are $1.80 and $2.25. Seating capacity is 400.

The faculty will have adjourned to Asilomar and the college will be closed that day.

For additional information, consult the student body office, Hut 4.

Linguaphone Records Available to Faculty

The field of anthropology has acquired a complete set of Linguaphone records in Chinese, Russian, Bengali and German. These records are available to faculty members for classroom demonstration. Those interested may apply to Walter Hacker, associate professor of geography and geology, Room 217, College Hall.

Display Men's Wear, Too...

TAKE TO MODELING—"Style Stepper," Bib 'n' Tucker's Fashion Show and Dance slated for Tuesday night in the Women's Gym, will feature modeling by the men as well as the women. Here are two Staters who will represent the masculine side—Phil Ryan, activities commissioner (left), and Hank Marscheck, Associated Student Body treasurer.

Student Body Card Sales Reach 2488; 12 Short of Quota

Total student body card sales have reached 2488, according to Treasurer Hank Marscheck. "This is 12 cards short," said Marscheck, "of the semester's minimum quota of 2500."

Two payments still remain of the student body's outside debts for the floodlights at Cox Stadium, the Board of Directors learned this week. The next payment will be made December 1, while the remainder of the $2500 still owed will be paid January 1, 1949.

The large amount due David J. Cox, chairman of the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be paid back gradually. Dean Cox stipulated no time limit on his loan.

Stanford Visitors To Study Methods

Twenty student candidates for advanced degrees in education from Stanford University are on campus today to study teacher training methods. They are accompanied by Dr. Paul Hanna and Dr. Lucien Kinney, a professor of education.

The group will consult with President J. Paul Leonard, Glenn Kendall, professor of education, Lavone Hanna, associate professor of education, and A. William Cowan, assistant professor of education.

Concert Performance Slated For November 24

Woodwind, brass and string ensembles will share the spotlight November 24 at 8:15 in Frederic Burk Auditorium, when the ensemble classes present their first performance of the semester. Conducted by Edwin Kruth and George Leedham, instructors of music, the program is free to the public.

This is another concert sponsored by the Music Federation and the Division of Creative Arts.

FRUIT BOWL

Gators, Cats Await Clash

The Fruit Bowl Association brings the highly touted football team of Southern University to Kezar Stadium December 5 to clash with State in the first interracial game ever held in the West.

This will be the second annual charity affair. Last year's game brought together Negro elevens from Wilberforce, Ohio, and Prarie View, Texas, with Wilberforce coming out on top, 26-6.

Undefeated and untied, the Southern Jaguar Cats are the undisputed national Negro scoring leader, with 124 points in four games. While rolling up this impressive total, the Cats goal-line has been crossed only once.

Part of the proceeds will go to the Fanny Wall Home for Children in Oakland; the college's Student Loan Fund and the poor and needy of San Francisco and Oakland who will receive Christmas packages.

The Cats have routed Langston University, 46-0; Sam Houston, 41-0; Arkansas State, 27-6; and ran up a score of 38-0 against Texas State's formerly unbeaten Steers.

Music Instructors Attend Session

Over 225 music instructors from the Bay Area attended the Music Educators' National Conference section meeting recently on campus.

First conclave of this type held at State, the program featured the San Francisco all-city junior high school orchestra, State's concert band, a demonstration concerning development of music reading readiness and a California folklogue, "The Golden Trail."

"The Music Federation and student MENC members on campus are to be complimented for their excellent handling of registration and other details of the meeting," Lee Chrisman, instructor of music, said this week. He also expressed appreciation to sorority women who served the luncheon in the Co-op.

MENC members from San Jose State and Stanford University were present at the meeting, according to Genevieve Carlyon, president of the student MENC at State.

Wolo to Speak Monday At Frederic Burk Aud.

Wolo, illustrator of children's books, will speak in Frederic Burk Auditorium Monday at 1 p.m., Miss Juliet Clark, librarian, stated today.

Classes Suspended Wednesday Noon, Reopen Monday

Plans for the faculty confab at Asilomar were completed this week as committee members and guest speakers began putting the finishing touches on the agenda for the third annual conference. The college will close at noon next Wednesday and will not reopen until the following Monday, November 22..

Prime purpose of the meet is a general analysis and evaluation of the General Education program, its progress, appraisal, and formulation of new objectives.

The program will be a direct study of the working operations put into effect this Fall after extensive studies by college educators.

The schedule provides for an opening address by President J. Paul Leonard on "A Review of Progress in General Education," followed by a series of progress reports from divisions in the GE plan; a summary and evaluation by Dr. Malcolm MacLean, professor of higher education at UCLA, and consultant at previous Asilomar conferences.

A series of committee meetings covering specific phases of the program will also be held.

Program closes Saturday morning with final committee reports and a speech by Dr. MacLean on "What it Means to Teach in a General Education Program."

Dr. Leonard, chairman, will preside over the closing session.

IRC Group Gathers At COP For Talks On World Problems

Representatives from the International Relations Club are meeting today and tomorrow with western regional representatives at College of the Pacific to discuss world problems.

In attendance from State will be Patt Desmond, Art Padilla, Rowena Bruce, Ralph Lewis and Charles A. McClelland, assistant professor of history and sponsor of the State group.

Opening address will be given by Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of C. O. P.

Rotary Offers Financial Help

Rotary Club of San Francisco has established a fund to aid worthy and qualified upper division students, as stated in a release this week.

A Student Loan Fund Committee will administer loans up to $500 a term upon recommendation by the college. Loans are to be repaid over a period of three years after graduation.

A loan application and personal record form to be submitted by the applicant can be obtained from Dean of Men John H. Cornehlsen, Room 106, College Hall.

Brakebill Gets Comptroller Post

Harry Brakebill now holds the position of Comptroller at State. He began his new duties on Wednesday, October 20, and has planned a revision of method in informing students on all transactions which are performed through his office.

The Comptroller acts as business manager of the college, taking care of all purchases, finances and other dealings from the business angle, as opposed to the educational angle.

Dub Park 'Maloney Field'

State's Lake Merced baseball diamond may be named Maloney Field, it was reported this week by Earl Homan, student body prexy.

Christmas Cheer Week to Be Jolly

By JERRY SOWELL

Santa Claus is coming to the little tan school house at Haight and Buchanan Streets. The Festival Yclept Christmas Cheer Week, dedicated to good fellowship, Saint Nick and the State student body, will almost monopolize the last week of class prior to the joyful Christmas holidays. And, sad though it sounds, a few classes may undergo cancellation, according to Edward E. Cassady, professor of English, who heads the festival.

Heretofore, sponsored only by the Humanities Division, Christmas Cheer Weeek also is backed by Associated Students this year.

A motion, introduced at the Tuesday meeting of the Board of Directors by Dean Mary A. Ward, asked that Christmas Cheer Week be officially supported by the student body. The motion was approved unanimously by the Board. The festival will be "universally sponsored by the student body, by the faculty and by the college administration," said John H. Cornehlsen Jr., dean of men.

Dr. Cassady, chairman of the Noel Committee, which is composed mainly of Humanities Club members, described the activities of Christmas Cheer Week as featuring student talent through the media of drama and the modern dance, "a program which probably will be held in the gymnasium." Appropriate decorations will brighten College Hall on Thursday, December 16, date of the Humanities Division dinner. All students are welcome. The fare approximates an offering of the gods. In a word, Turkey . . . "and the trimmings," said Dr. Cassady, "salad, dessert, lots of coffee, and cranberry sauce. The trimmings."

The budget for Christmas Cheer Week will not exceed $140, according to Dr. Cassady. He will present the budget to the Board of Control at its next meeting.

Late Sports Victory Flash . . .

State's varsity basketball team opened its 1948-49 season successfully Wednesday night in the Women's Gym by whipping easily the San Leandro Athletic Club quintet, 62-49. Forward John Burton was high point man with 18. More than 200 Staters witnessed the victory.

KEEP TRADITIONAL YEAR BOOK

We have heard a lot of talk lately about inaugurating some traditions on this almost tradition-less campus. Some express hope that by the time the last "old fogey" veteran packs up his kit and silently trudges away this will be a rah-rah college with all the trimmings. Everything will be hunky-dory. San Francisco State will be "big time."

Before "new" traditions are brought on campus, maybe it will be a good idea to keep alive the ones we have.

There is a yearbook campaign on, but unless the student body gets off the dime, the campaign will fall flat on its face. An ultimatum delivered to the editors by Mr. Charles A. Roumasset, the man who helps keep the financial pot of Associated Students boiling, states that 1000 Franciscans must be sold before December 1.

The campaign has less than a month to run. Payments are NOT pouring in. If the student body is unable to support established traditions now, why expend hot air on pipe dreams for the future? The editors have to sell the Franciscan this month. If they do not, there will be no yearbook next June. The Senior Class will go out into the world unnoticed and the Fiftieth Anniversary will be just another academic year.—E. E.

The HEP-PER SIDE

By LUISA HEPPER

Music Fedsters should be taking a needed rest after their recent fast-paced calendar; yet it seems they are not only strong in membership, but in endurance as well. On the program for next week are three performances of the Cancert Band, sponsored by the Fed and the Division of Creative Arts, as are all presentations of musical activities. Latest of the Fed socials, the Sadie Hawkins Day Dance, held recently, featured a miniature Dogpatch set-up in the Women's Gym, complpete with hundreds of colorful balloons in the shape of Al Capp's newest creation, the Shmoo.

It is fortunate that well-winded instrumentalists belong to the Fed, as they were needed to inflate the balloons.

HITCHING DAY

Over 100 couples were "hitched," Dogpatch style, in the "hitchitorium." The extra-special ceremony included an appropriate corsage of mixed vegetables.

Participants in the Big Race, held the day previous to the dance, were pledges from the four service sororities and Delta Gamma Tau frat.

Congrats to Bob Greenwood, Fed publicity chairman, for his conscientious efforts concerning the Sadie Hawkins project. Among other things, he was the ghost writer behind those "writ-by-hand" notes from Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner found in Staters' post boxes. Thanks to Greenwood, the San Francisco newspaper which prints Capp's comic strip covered celebrations with a flourish in several editions. (Greenwood and his orchestra made their State debut at the Delta Gamma Tau dance last-Friday night. Bob originally is a string bass musician.)

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The very next morning after the Hawkins jig, Fedsters were on campus to handle registration and other details of the Music Educators' National Conference Bay Area section meeting. This was the initial conclave of the group to be held at State. Over 225 music instructors were in attendance, some from as far as Modesto.

Student MENC members, headed by their president, Genevieve Carlyon, also assisted with proceedings of the day. They met fellow cohorts from San Jose State and Stanford.

"Midterms" Dilemma Dazzles Two Romantic Protoplasms

By RAOUL G. SOSA Jr.

It was the night before the mid-terms. Betty and Jim were walking through the park.

"Isn't it a beautiful night?" Betty asked her boy friend, as the pair walked hand in hand.

"Uh . . . yes," Jim replied, looking up at the heavens. "The Universe," he mused, finite or infinite? . . . mechanistic or vitalistic? . . . the stars, millions of light years away . . . light traveling at 186,000 miles per second!"

"The earth," he kept pondering, "8000 miles in diameter, 93,000,000 miles away from the sun." His feet touched the ground, and he felt the planet rotating at the rate of 20 miles per second—or was it 30?

Jim wondered on the geological: Sedimentary deposits, perhaps harboring the jetsam and flotsam of the Ordovician, Silurian, Permian and Triassic periods . . . perhaps under his very feet were the fossil remains of a Mosasaur, an Ichthyosaur—or even a common Stegosaurus Ungulatus . . .

Indeed, he was certain that the hill he was ascending was composed of volcanic breccia, composed of pryoclastic material, of calcareous origin, which had been stratified by a crustal disturbance which had occurred during the Timiskian Era of the Cryptoxoic Eon . . .

"Aren't the trees beautiful?" Betty said to Jim, who still was in 50,000 B. C. Yes, the trees were beautiful to Betty . . . above all the Angiospermophyta . . . and of course the Coniferophyta, too . . . But, ah, her favorite was the Ptderidospermophyta.

The couple reached Betty's house. At the doorstep, Jim held her hand. Betty winced. Protoplasm," he mused, "cold, unadulterated protoplasm, kept alive by the contractions of the cardiac, assisted by capillaries."

"Good night," Betty said, snatching back her hand and running up the stairs. "Good night," Jim answered, half abstractedly, semi-consciously.

"He's so tall," Betty mused, as she turned to look at Jim strolling down the street, "he should have had his pituitary glands checked when he was little . . ."

Jim strolled down the street, very absorbed. He looked up at the sky. He mused: "The Universe, mechanistic or vitalistic—finite or infinite . . ."

Female Observation Power

By PHYLLIS FORD

Girls, do you have the weird inclination to bash in the heads of certain males? Would you love to push in the oafish grin on that fellow in terrific argyles, who has an air of vout?

Maybe you're a little afraid because he's such a big lout! Say, how about that classic profile, with the hair; you know the one who sits in front of you in Social Science, maybe?

If he only had teeth, or a smile to bequeath, even in defiance. Heck no, it's always that quirk, with a sassy smirk, who makes the passes, and in classes yet. Who says with beguile, there's something about your smile—ho-hum, see you soon. For him your life never has begun.

Yes, you are right! Leap year is a fight. And then you try to do it with pictures, clothes, smiles, trying to find what interest lies within that muscle function called the male brain. Tain't right!

How about something new for approach, like indifference. It's not too bad, but you always can count on interference. Try honesty, it's always good to say the truth, but wow! Do you have Quebec to pay. You'll probably end up being a buddy. Oh, how simply ruddy . . .

Fellows ought to take an objective whirl at looking through the eyes of a girl. Wonder who most resembles the sack? After all, girls do dress differently. The only sacks I personally know, are the ones that resemble a square.

Just take it, gals; though it be a bitter pill. There are other fish.

Homan: Income Is Low in Cafeteria

In continuation of this series on various phases of student government, I should like to discuss the Cafeteria. In theory, the Cafeteria is a co-operative enterprise. That is, all expenses should be balanced by the income, which is primarily sales. Due to various circumstances, the expenses have not been met by the income, and there is, at present, an incurred debt of $5000.

It was felt by the Store Council, who has immediate jurisdiction over the Cafeteria, that perhaps the lack of turnover or student buying was not what it should be.

Students were using the Cafeteria for a recreation center and general study hall. It was, with this in mind, that the 20-cent minimum was established. It was hoped that this would bring students to the Cafeteria who were interested primarily in eating and to provide these students with a place to eat.

So far the experiment has been successful. I would like to point out here that this is only an experiment, and if not successful will be changed.

The Associated Students own and operate the Cafeteria on a non-profit basis and do so as a benefit to the students. We hire a trained dietician as manager and she, in turn, hires student help to maintain the cafeteria. Mrs. Erna Lehan is the present very able manager and dietician.

Since the cafeteria is a student body enterprise, we of the Board of Directors would welcome any suggestions and constructive criticism pertaining to its operation. This is your school and we welcome your opinion.—E. H.

SPORTS BEAT

One of the ironical factors in State's slaughter at the hands of Cal Poly is that one of the Mustang's most effective backs was a San Franciscan, Ray Stewart, who won All-City recognition in 1944 while starring for Lincoln High.

* * * * *

Last Friday's lacing causes us to think of the tremendous letdown the Gators have had since Tony Morrow was rendereed hors de combat in the second quarter of the Humboldt State game. The big center was a one-man wrecking crew against Whittier, and was in the Lumberjack game long enough to help his mates pile up a convincing lead.

A measuring stick for Morrow's value to the team is found in the fact that the Whittier team, which bowed, 18-7, to State, with Tony in the line-up, was able to down Cal Poly two weeks ago, 26-13.

Holden Second In Three-way Jaunt

San Jose State cross-country runners chalked up a low of 33 points last Friday afternoon to win the three-way, three-mile jaunt around Lake Merced. Cal Poly finished second with 43, State third with 44.

Jim Purdy of the Spartans covered the distance in the very fine time of 14:32 to just beat out State's John Holden for first place. Twenty-eight men ran, the first 15 counting in the scoring. Bill Brennan and Hank Watty of the Gators took fifth and eighth places, respectively.

The three schools again will cover the course Friday, December 3, according to Coach Jack Byrne.

Gators Close Season With Occidental

Tide Is Underdog Tomorrow Against Unbeaten Eleven

Smarting from the humiliating defeat administered them last week by Cal Poly, State's battle weary footballers are faced tomorrow afternoon with the dubious honor of meeting one of the nation's few remaining unbeaten and untied teams in the Wildcats of Occidental at the latter's home field.

Coach Dick Boyle will once again revise his line-up in an effort to produce an upset victory for the Gators in their final outing of the season. Third stringer Hal Atthowe has earned himself a starting berth at end off his outstanding play in the final quarter of last week's fiasco.

Jack Caruso, who started the season with the Jayvees, has fought his way into a starting position at left half, while Bob Keropian moves his 145 pounds into the wingback slot. Bud Davis at quarterback and Pete Desalernos at fullback round out the backfield.

Forward wall will line up with Atthowe and Don Chabot at ends; Jack Newell and Dick Peters, tackles; Mario Lombardo and Jack Root, guards; and "Cub" Rubio over the ball at center.

Leading the attack for the Southlanders from his quarterback position will be Johnny Trump, one of two U. C. L. A. transfers on the team, the other being End Bob Levin.

The unbeaten Wildcats rolled to their sixth straight win of the season last Saturday by blasting the defending champion of the Southern California Conference, Redlands, to the tune of 28-6.

Jayvees Play Hot Intersquad Set-to

By JOE FINNIGAN

In a hotly contested gridiron battle, State's Jayvees engaged in an inter-squad fracas last Friday afternoon between the "Whites" and "Blues" which ended in a 7-7 tie. The Whites, coached by herculean Howie Hill, scored their tally on a quarterback sneak by Neil Kaufman. A pass from Ray Enjaian to Irv Edstrom gave the Blues their score. The Blues were tutored by Phil "Kezar" Cali. Both squads made conversions on passes.

The boys played this one as if it decided the Rose Bowl bid, and the casualty list reads like the result of the Battle of Bunker Hill. Pete Cinquini received an injured hip, Vince Custodio netted a lacerated nose, Jack "Cuddles" Clark garnered a headache, and Tom "Rattlesnake" Finnigan came out with two injured ankles. Fortunately for the squad, none of the injuries were serious and most of the boys will be ready for the next game.

Golden Tide Passed Dizzy By Mustangs For 40-0 Loss

COX STADIUM, Nov. 5—State's dreams of a successful football season had a rude awakening tonight, as a thundering herd of Mustangs from Cal Poly hit the hapless Gators with everything but the Cox Stadium goal posts to score an overwhelming victory over the men of Dick Boyle—40-0.

The Mustangs capitalized on a sieve-like Gator pass defense to set the pace for their relentlessly fast moving offense, with Halfback Vern Bebernes holding down the principal role in the aerial circus, aided and abetted by Quarterbacks Al Gomes and Jerry Carter, and Halfback Lee Rosa. End Chuck Weber and Halfback Ray Stewart did most of the receiving.

The route started midway in the first quarter, when Bebernes found Weber in the clear with a pass good for 37 yards and a touchdown. A few minutes previously Barney Greenberg had given State fans one of their two chances to shout by staving off the first Mustang scoring threat with a 36-yard runback of a pass interception from his own five.

The Mustangs scored once more in the second quarter, with Bill Hobbs plunging two yards for the TD, and twice each in the final two periods. A beautiful 40-yard pass and lateral play from Bebernes to Stewart to Weber set up the third tally early in the third quarter, and seemed to take all the fight out of the Gators. Fullback Byron Culver boomed over three plays later for his first of two touchdowns, the other coming in the same period after a 53-yard sustained drive.

Carter took up the cudgel in the last stanza, passing to Rosa and Stewart for the final two touchdowns on plays that covered 12 and 35 yards, respectively. Bebernes kicked two of the extra points and passed to Weber and Stewart for the other two.

The Tide's performance was by far its flattest of the season. There was no offensive blocking to speak of, and the team lacked the unity it had displayed on previous occasions. Creditable performances were turned in by Left End Don Chabot and reserve End Hal Atthowe, who showed plenty of hustle on both offense and defense.

Gripmen Cop Pair In Berkeley Meet

By BOB CALLAN

Collecting two wins and two draws in the Regional Wrestling Invitational Tournament, the Gator gripmen opened their season last week at the U. C. Men's Gym in Berkeley.

The meet was more or less of a "practice run," in which the coaches entered many novices. Among the top teams entered were Cal, San Jose State and the Olympic Club.

The best State performance of the evening was turned in by Russ Messerole (155), in pinning "Kid" Campbell of San Jose. The other Gator win was scored by Bob Bandeberry (165), who decisioned Long of San Jose. Later "Brandy" dropped a close decision to Drew, also of the Spartans.

Don Burbank (118), State's "mighty mite," drew in his match, as did bearded Otto Graf (145), who grappled Hodges of the Bears to a standstill.

Joe McCraven (145), Bob Cunningham (145), and Chet Martin (121), all novices with little experience but a lot of heart, dropped decisions to Cal men.

Cagers See Action In Gym Tonight

Tonight at 8 in the Gym, the Gator quintet will tangle with the Armstrong College five. The Jayvees will appear in the 6:30 preliminary.

Bursting speed, a lot of height, and deadly shooting should give the Staters the victory.

Coach Dan Farmer presents the speed element in forwards Dick Jaensch, Johnny Burton, Dick Franks, Jimmy Wong, and Roger Fanfelle. The height is provided by Angelo Maestri and "Big Bill" Callas at the pivot post, and guards "Tex" Williford, Gus Skoufus and Rick Arhling.

On Friday, November 26, the Gators travel to Berkeley to give battle to the California Golden Bears. On Wednesday, November 24, State casabans entertain the Golden Gate A. C. in the Gym.

Soccer Team Battles Cal Tomorrow at Cox Field

A favored California soccer team will meet State's booters tomorrow morning at 10 on the Cox Stadium field.

Big Ring Year Seen By Carr

By ED LEVITT

A record shattering sign-up of 22 fistic warriors was reported this week by Coach Ward Carr. Scheduled already are bouts with City College on December 7, and with Chico on December 14. Both matches are away.

"This will be our year for boxing," Coach Carr predicted yesterday.

The announcement that Sal Solina, last season's Far Western Conference featherweight champion, will return to the ring, may have been partially responsible for Carr's optimism.

Returning also is Jack Campbell, hard hitting lightweight contender. The "Jumping Jack" hasn't won them all in the past, but he is an aggressive battler, and with the experience gained thus far should be tough to beat.

Coach Carr still is looking for lightweights, middleweights and heavyweights to round out the squad. Each member of the boxing team rates one unit credit.

BOXING CONTEST

Who is the mysterious boxer? This will be the theme of a contest sponsored by State's boxing squad, and which will begin this Monday.

Everyone is eligible to participate.

A prize will be awarded to the winner.

Candidates for the contest are to properly identify and list the ring achievements of this famous pugilist—whose picture will be posted in the Men's Gym next week.

Entries will be judged by a point system and the winner will be announced in the Golden Gater December 3.

Tennis Courts Reserved For Varsity Candidates

Coach Dan Farmer has announced that the tennis courts are reserved for varsity practice Tuesday and Thursday from 12 to 1 p.m. The mentor advises that all men who are interested in becoming a member of the 1949 varsity tennis team should start working out during the above hours, in order that they may attain top form when the season rolls around next Spring.

Concert Band Starts City Tour on Sunday

First of the Concert Band's three programs next week is slated for 3 p.m. Sunday at George Washington High School Auditorium. The same program will be repeated at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday for the students at Marina Junior High School, and for the public at 8:15 p.m. the same date in Marina's Auditorium.

There is no admission charge for these concerts. They are sponsored by the Division of Creative Arts and the Music Federation.

Purpose of this repetition is to provide good music for listeners in varied sections of the city, Lee Chrisman, band conductor and instructor in music, said this week. "We hope to repeat every program at least two or three times, each time in a different place," he added.

While contemporary American selections will be stressed, scheduled numbers also include Prelude and Fugue in B flat, by Johan Sebastian Bach, and Die Fledermaus, by Johan Strauss.

Benes Kin Gives Evening Lectures

Bohus Benes, a nephew of Edward Benes, the former President of Czechoslovakia, is conducting a course entitled "Contemporary Europe" on campus Thursday nights from 7 to 9.

Begun two weeks ago, the course will consist of 15 lectures concerning historical analysis of the current diplomatic scene in contemporary Europe. The course may be taken with or without college credit.

Mr. Benes has been in the consular and diplomatic service of Czechoslovakia in New York, Montreal, Brussels, Geneva, Paris, London, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco.

For the last six years he has been consul in San Francisco, resigning this post on September 3, after the death of his uncle.

Musical Clinic Next Saturday

Music instructors in Bay Area junior and senior high schools will gather from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow in Frederic Burk Auditorium for the second musical clinic to be held on campus.

Medium of study will be State's college symphony, conducted by Lee Chrisman, instructor in music. The group, Chrisman said, will read contemporary American music to demonstrate compositions which may be used successfully by junior and senior high school orchestras.

This type of clinic was established on campus last year, featuring the college concert band.

SCIENCE

Merced Einsteins Measure Electrons

By DOROTHY C. LAVEAU

The Modern Physics 159 class, directed by Leonard T. Pockman, assistant professor of physics, has been performing experiments at the physics laboratory at the new campus.

BUILD OWN EQUIPMENT

Experimental apparatus built, partly by the students during the post session, and partly by Mr. E. L. Ung, laboratory assistant and technician for the department, is being used.

One experiment measures the charge of the electron by Millikan's oil drop method. The significance of this experiment lies not so much in the accurate measurement of the electronic charge which it makes possible, as it does in the direct evidence which it provides that electricity is atomistic. The measured charge on an individual oil droplet (diameter of order 0.001 mm) never contains any fractional part of, but is always an integral multiple of the fundamental charge. This experiment has been done by many physicists in all parts of the world using a great variety of liquids for the droplets with these same fundamental results. Hence, as far as known, this charge can never be subdivided.

It is interesting to note that the charges on the droplets measured by the San Francisco State College students have ranged from one electronic charge through five electronic charges.

RECONVERTED RADAR

The students measured the ratio of the electron's charge to its mass with the help of a magnetron tube which was originally designed for wartime use as a generator of radar radio frequency oscillations in the 3000 megacycle band.

Using a sensitive torsion pendulum in vacuum, the students have measured the universal constant of gravitation G. This famous experiment, first performed about 1800 by Henry Cavendish, is sometimes referred to as the Cavendish experiment for measuring the mass of the earth, because a knowledge of G makes possible the calculation of the mass of the entire earth.

The students have obtained from 6.3 to 6.9.1021 tons. Accurate value is 6.6.1021 tons.

By AL MARTINEZ

Prior to election many predictions were made, and among those to predict a Republican victory was George E. Outland, professor of sociology.

THEY ALSO RAN

Dr. Outland, among other things, predicted that Dewey would win the presidential election. He also forecast Humphrey would beat Ball in Minnesota; Neeley would beat Revercomb in West Va.; Hunt would beat Robertson in Wyoming; and that former Governor Kerr would beat Rizley in Oklahoma.

MILD UNDERSTATEMENT

In his class in Political Geography, Dr. Outland predicted the Democrats would either take or tie the Senate, and that all Democratic incumbents in the Senate would win. The unforeseen majority in the House of Representatives was a pleasant surprise.

Dr. Outland stated his theories on the Truman victory as overconfidence in the Republican ranks; last-minute Wallace votes for Truman; labor's large vote; and Truman's tour, especially the last one.

DARK HORSE

Ex-member of the House of Representatives from the eleventh congressional district through 1943-46, Dr. Outland received 6000 write-in votes from Santa Barbara, California. He admitted that he didn't authorize the use of his name in the draft-Outland campaign.

Dr. Outland further stated, "This was the most surprising election in American history. I can't remember such a reversal of seeming public opinion. I do think that it places a responsibility on the Democratic party for legislation. It is not for the Democrats to exult in victory, but to carry out the campaign promises. I think they will do it."

Exchanges

By DICK ADAMS

Many colleges conducted straw votes just prior to the election. The results show that students, as contrasted with the voting public at large, tend distinctly to the extremes. Dewey held a strong majority, while Wallace polled a much larger percentage than was given him either by the pollsters or the final returns. In Arkansas, a state that went heavily for Truman, the university rated him only a few votes above Thurmond.

I don't even think(tsk) the Fog-town rooters sang their college hymn following the game. Many of our own team supporters felt neglected when they were not officially recognized by the Bay school — a thing that wouldn't have happened to S. F. had they come up here. . ."

There have been two suicides at Cal recently. . . . Mid-terms and all that, we suppose.
